DESCRIPTION

The Showa PVC glove is manufactured according to our original process and offers unequalled softness and excellent impermeability, as well as high levels of resistance to oil substances.

PVC is the material that provides good resistance to the majority of chemical substances. Problems relating to latex allergy are avoided. The glove resists hydrocarbons.

The rough finish of the palm allows objects to be held securely and makes handling easier, as well as providing good abrasion resistance.

The extremely supple PVC sleeve provides good freedom of movement and offers the same level of protection as the glove.

The sleeve's elasticated border holds the glove in place.

An eyelet at the top of the sleeve allows it to be hung and aids storage.

The glove's softness and anatomical shape provide maximum comfort and dexterity during handling and reduce hand fatigue.

The liner's antibacterial treatment and seamless design eliminate the risk of irritation.

Suitable for contact with foods.

Can be washed at 40°C using a neutral detergent.
